County signs pact to build 40 miles

After extended discussion of the payment formula proposed by the Corps of Engineers for replacing county roads to be abandoned for the Mississippi Test Operations, the board of supervisors Monday approved a contract calling for payment of $410,000 by Uncle Sam to build 40 miles of new roads.

Under the agreement the U. S. Government will pay $205,000 upon delivery of the quit claim deed on the test site roads with installments of $18,000 on completion of the next 10 per cent and so on up to 90 per cent. The balance will be due on full completion of the replacement work.

The plan provides, in essence, that each of the five supervisory districts will construct around eight miles of hard-surfaced roads with the government money. A completion date of Dec. 31, 1967 (end of the current board's term of office) was fixed although the board chairman, R.G. Hubbard, Jr., of Beat 5, argued strenuously this target could be met on the payment formula.

With the agreement based on $10,000 per mile, Hubbard contended the roads would have to be built with county equipment to stay within costs and he did not believe it was humanly possible for the supervisors to finish the job that soon. Melvin Dovich, representing the Corps of Engineers, told the supervisors his agency had been thinking in terms of a two-year completion date on the basis roads were being built as "replacements" for those in the MTO area and the public would certainly need them promptly to cope with the anticipated population impact.

Both Supervisors H.G. Dean of Beat 1 and Dolph Keller of Beat 2 said the payment formula appeared feasible to them and they were ready to start work promptly. After further questioning of the contract they persuaded Hubbard the agreement was worth a trial. Dovich and O.B. Moore, chief of the Corps' local real estate office, reminded the board that the work proposals were those submitted by the supervisors themselves through their engineer, Arthur Rogers.

Rogers, in turn, explained his cost estimates were based on averages of road construction costs in the county of all types since 1952. He said he tried to make construction requirements similar to those for state jobs.

Supervisors questioned Dovich closely as to changes in the roads proposed for improvement. (Cont. on Page 6.)

AUDIENCE LISTENS INTENTLY TO INTERSTATE 10, U.S. 90 CONSTRUCTION PLANS AT HEARING

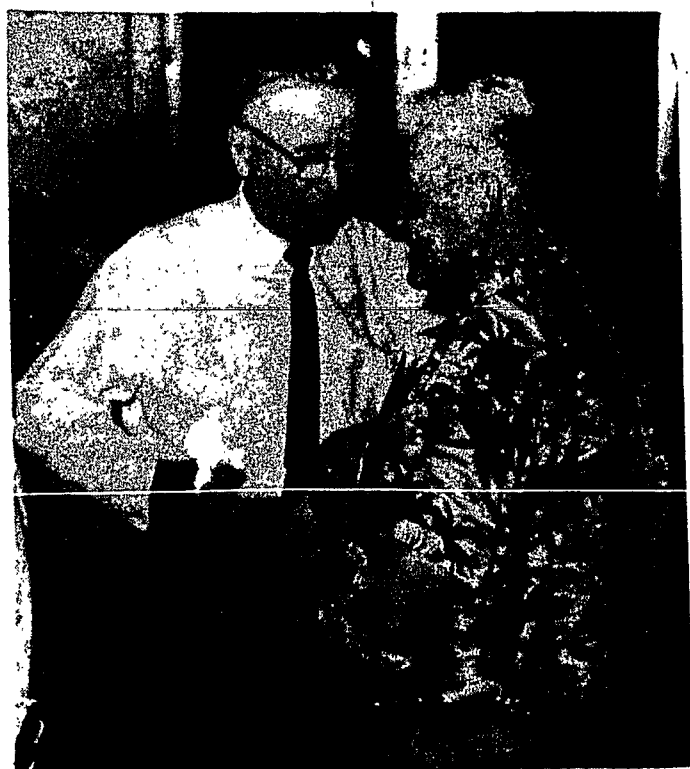

Hearing on Interstate 10

See 90 4-lane job finished in 3 years

U.S. 90 to Mississippi Highway Rt. 43 to be completed in three years. The most interesting feature of the highway department's public hearing on the Interstate 10 project was the hearing on the Interstate 10 project.

Local citizens seemed more interested in highway right of ways for the four-laning of 90 and 43 than in any other thing. Where 90 is concerned, highway department officials said they hoped no new rights of way would be needed but also said that circumstances might require the acquisition of a few feet at various points. August Scalfidi, a major U. S. 90 property owner, was particularly insistent on learning where these few feet would be north or south of the present highway and pointed out that the businesses on the south side far exceeded those on the north side.

ROAD AFFAIR - Highway Commissioner John D. Smith outlines point in proposed Interstate 10 building and four-laning of U.S. 90 and Rt. 43 to Louis Schwall after public hearing on 1-10 plans Friday. Highway representatives answered individual questions from many of those attending after formal hearing closed.

Supervisors ask widening to La.

Operations officials. Supervisor H.G. Dean of Beat 1 complained it appeared the creation of the regional advisory body was going to rule out any state and federal grant to the county for planning. He argued zoning and sub-division regulations are needed on a local level first and time is speeding by with more and more people moving in and creating problems.

It appears that the present indefinite status of the subdivision code is acting against filling of these plans by developers. Dean suggested some features of street paving requirements might be relaxed somewhat after a code is adopted and Supervisor R.G. Hubbard of Beat 5 commented, "Just watch how fast those lots will sell when they're already got paved streets in there."

County stiffens policy on housing prisoners

Sheriff Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., was instructed by the board of supervisors Monday to submit monthly bills to the municipalities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland for care of their prisoners in the county jail.

By increasing demands on the county general fund the board took the position it should pay only for prisoners for whom the county treasury collects any fines. During May, Bay St. Louis had 88 prisoners housed and fed. Supervisors also discussed requiring the prisoners to work out time for cost of food in addition to any fine. The sheriff noted Lazarus Holland, charged with kidnapping the Bay police chief, had been in jail for several months at cost to the county.

Building, budget Stennis, meet is June 13 Colmer win in Hancock

June 13 is the date set Monday by the county school board to take up the questions of new schools and new budget. Attorney Walter James Phillips said that by that date he thought he could present to the board the various sources of money and minimum and maximum amounts the board might expect for building.

Following Phillips setting the date for his report Superintendent of Education Robert Ladner said he could present next year's budget at the same time.

Hancock County, with 22 out of 25 precincts voting, gave majorities to John C. Stennis for United States Senator, William Colmer for Representative, and Robert Lee Jones for justice of the Supreme Court in Tuesday's Democratic primary.

The first key minutes of the meeting were taken up with a technicality (see editorial) after which the board reapportioned hunchroom managers: Mrs. J. T. Lee, Hancock North Central; Mrs. Leola Soufflet, Lakeshore; and Mrs. Fred Strahan, Logtown.

Trustee Luga Necaise at first objected to appointing the hunchroom manager for North Central at this time, though emphasizing that he was for Mrs. Lee, but Superintendent Ladner asked that this action be taken so the managers could avail themselves of summer instruction in their field. He also pointed out, in relation to Mrs. Lee, that she was certificated and the school would be penalized by the state if they did not have a manager with a proper certificate.

Stennis received 1,172 votes over Victoria Jackson Gray, his only opponent. For Representative of the 5th District, Colmer polled 950 votes over his opponents John Earl Cameron, Edward Khyatt, and Ben H. Walley. Jones received 812 votes to win over Lunsford Casey.

Buttons from the advertising fund of $150 to the Mississippi Deep Sea Rodeo program, $25 to Bay-Waveland Yacht Club for its Lipton regatta program Labor Day weekend, and $100 for the Jaycees for their Miss Bay St. Louis pageant and $250 for the 4-H camp fund. Supervisor H.G. Dean suggested the board think of cutting the half-mill added to the advertising fund last year and putting it in the mosquito control levy instead.

Waveland well check continues

Worry about locating the owner of a white and tan ladies' pocketbook left at Waveland Town Hall complete with $1.68 in the wallet almost sidelined consideration by Waveland Town Council Tuesday night of a re-testing for purity of the seven-month delayed deep water well installed by C.T. Switzer Co.

Plus 31 years in other cases

Ladner, a 150 told board members that the $300 a year raise for teachers, made law by Gov. Paul Johnson, Jr.'s signature last week, only applied to those with A and AA certificates. Holders of B certificates get $200 outright and in addition get a $50 per year increment raise for six years instead of $40 for five. In effect this gives them $260 raise. Holders of C certificates also get the increment raise.

Necaise again emphasized his concurrence in Mrs. Lee's appointment but insisted that the board, in appointing managers was not obligating itself to appoint their recommendations for assistants. With this understanding Necaise made the motion for the appointments which carried without dissent.

First tests of the new well, which has not yet been tapped for the municipal water system, were inconclusive and another sampling by state health authorities was scheduled for Wednesday with reports due next week.

Complete official tabulations of Hancock County are as follows: Gray, 37, Stennis, 1172; Cameron, 22, Colmer, 950; Khyatt, 247, Walley, 14; Casey, 336, Jones, 812.

Rising costs and bid technicalities continued to plague the board of supervisors in its efforts to proceed with two scheduled federal-state aid road projects in the north part of the county this week.

Cole gets life

After listening to three hours of testimony and viewing 14 state exhibits an all-white jury in Circuit Court last Thursday found Paul Thomas Cole, Negro, guilty of the rape of a white Bay St. Louis housewife on April 21, but were unable to agree as to his punishment.

Test site staff near 2,000

Mississippi Test Operations work force hovered just under the 2,000 mark this week. The count Monday was 1,935, the up from 1,642 last week. Of the total 1,563 are contractor personnel as work was in full swing on all jobs with favorable weather.

Test site staff near 2,000

Assistant Bay police chief John Kachler was second on the stand as one of the arresting officers. The jury was dismissed for Sheriff Sylvan Ladner to tell how a statement by Cole was obtained before him, Hollenman and Ford O'Neil, special investigator for the Mississippi Highway Patrol, in Harrison County Courthouse April 22. Judge Grant allowed the statement in which Cole confessed his guilt, to be admitted as a state exhibit. The jury returned and Ladner read the four typewritten pages aloud.

Test site staff near 2,000

O'Neil then testified that bedclothing removed from the woman's home had been sent to J. Edgar Hoover in a sealed box which was then brought into the courtroom and identified as the same box.

Dr. Herb Gaddy, Gulfport gynecologist, and the attending physician to give his testimony. Paul M. Stombaugh, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, took the stand and explained laboratory tests on the articles which were removed from the box. The state rested and an hour recess was called.

Test site staff near 2,000

After closing statements by Assistant District Attorney Clyde Hurlburt and Court-appointed defense attorney J.H. Benveniste, and Hollenman's plea for a death sentence, the jury retired at 2:12 p.m.

Test site staff near 2,000

The 12 jurors, Norris Asher, Wilton J. Necaise, Eddie Laverne Malley, Horace A. Ladner, Irvin P. Hoda, Robert E. Shaw, Jr., John J. Monti and Tommy Shaw returned at 4:40 p.m. with a verdict of guilty, saying 11 favored death in the gas chamber with one dissenting.

Test site staff near 2,000

Judge Grant then sentenced Cole to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary at hard labor. (Cont. on Page 7.)

Rocky Hill job fails on 5th try, eye Dummy

The Rocky Hill Road job in Beat 3, which was advertising for the fifth time, was unsuccessful again when the lone bid of H.S. Wilson Contractors of Long Beach at $164,430.11 was thrown out because bid items were not written in.

The Dummy Line Road (Klin Playune Highway) in Beat 4 on its third try drew only one bid which the board finally decided to hold for action. Necaise and Felson of Gulfport, unsuccessful on previous tries for the Beat 3 job, offered $170,680.06 on the 5.38 miles involved. State Highway department representatives present said the price was about 14 per cent above the estimate of $150,240.87 and asked for a chance to check with Jackson. The board agreed to withhold a decision until Monday when it reconvenes at 2 p.m.

The state men suggested the board give serious consideration to handling itself the Beat 3 project, contracting only for the two bridges, in view of inability on the fifth try to get a satisfactory bid. Supervisors were somewhat skeptical since they have just agreed to hard-surface 40 miles under a contract with the U.S. government but indicated the idea would be explored.

Supervisors discussed the 40-mile project informally before the two bids were opened. They also went into a closed session with Cornelius Ladner.

On secrecy

The first few minutes of the county school board's meeting Monday were taken up with the technical question of whether it was proper for the board to have gone into executive session its preceding meeting on the declaration of its president or whether it was necessary for a vote to be taken.

From a practical standpoint the question is moot—they did go into executive session. In addition, two members of the board not including the president had, according to their statements Monday, asked for the executive session.

As a matter of principle we just take exception, to executive, or secret, sessions but recognize that on rare occasions they are justified. While we don't know the whys and wherefores of this session—we're not supposed to—apparently it dealt with touchy personnel questions, or so we would judge from the fact that the superintendent and high school principal from North Central School were permitted to remain.

(Still rambling around the same point, we should remark, if only parenthetically, that by and large the public bodies in Hancock County are less inclined to executive sessions than many. Waveland's Town Council just doesn't indulge and Hancock County Hospital Board sometimes threatens but doesn't.) We don't know the correct answer as to the lawfulness of an executive session entered into on the announcement of the presiding officer and certainly an objector among the members can make his objection known. Nevertheless, whether required or not, it seems to us a far wiser policy for a vote to be taken on the question. Then we and the public know whom to suspect.

Letters to The Editor

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
Let me take this opportunity to thank the Hancock County board of supervisors for their action in relieving the citizens of this county of some of their tax burden.

The reduction of the overall tax from 3 to 2 cents a gallon is a commendable step in the right direction for getting some of our new neighbors (and some of our old ones) to buy their gas here rather than out of the county. We hope the people of Hancock County realize and appreciate this and will see fit to buy all their gas at home.

Sec. Gasoline Retailers Assn.

Realty wins, Traps forfeit win on protest

On-charging Southern Realty rumped to a 12-0 decision over Waveland Merchants and Traps' protest to a 17-5 victory over Kramsky in last Wednesday's Bay softball play.

A written protest submitted by Kramsky's on grounds of an ineligible Knack-Knock player was approved by the sponsors of the eight teams at a special meeting called by the league Friday and ruling was made that Traps forfeit and Kramsky's be awarded a 7-0 decision, one run in each inning for seven innings.

In the opener the Realtors smashed 15 hits off of Waveland's Jim Mayfield while the Merchants were only able to get five hits for 24 trips to the plate off of ace right-hander Donald Caldwell. Bill Watts, W. J. Cameron, Leroy Lake, Wilmer Seymour, and J. T. Lachar were two for four trips to the plate.

Jimmy Clackler, Milton Bernard, Arthur Jacquillard, Don New, and Bart Taylor accounted for all of Waveland's hits.

L&N, express start service on light loads

A new combined rail-truck service for less than carload freight is now available at 16 points in southern Alabama and Mississippi utilizing the Louisville and Nashville Railroad's piggyback facilities and Gulf Coast Express, Inc., trucking firm headquartered in Bay St. Louis.

Customers at Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Lakeshore and other communities in the area will be able to ship or receive small lots to and from any point on the L and N or its rail connections open to LCL service. In addition to greatly improved transit time, the new arrangement also provides free pick-up and delivery.

The L and N said that Gulf Coast Express would use the railroad's local freight houses at Mobile and New Orleans to make the transfer of freight between rail and truck. This, the railroad said, is part of its program to improve and expand its less-than-carload operations by utilizing piggy-back terminals strategically located at 15 major points on its system.

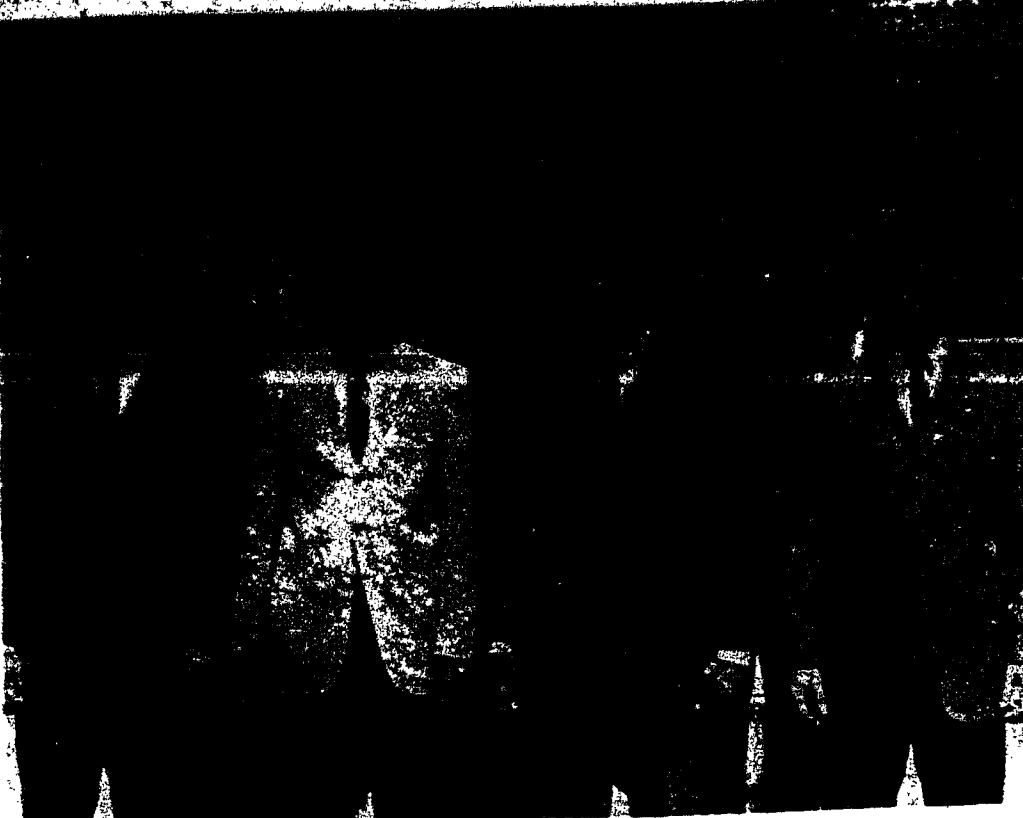

Byrnes assigned by Methodists to two churches here
Appointments of the Mississippi Methodist Conference include, in this area, Rev. Percy Byrnes who becomes pastor of the Waveland and Clermont Harbor Churches.

Mr. Byrnes, a resident of Long Beach, assumes his pastoral duties this Sunday. He will preach a 10 a.m. sermon at Waveland, and an 11 o'clock sermon at Clermont Harbor. This will be his first ministerial assignment. He replaces R. L. Johnson, dean of Peori River Junior College. Mr. Byrnes is married and the father of two children, Anita, 17, and Percy, 15.

Another assignment of interest to this area is that of Rev. E.H. Price, former minister at Main Street Methodist Church, to McComb. After leaving Bay St. Louis, he was minister at Collins.

The Mississippi Legislature POLITICOS SPEAK

BY RALPH SOWELL JR.

Legislators paved the way for adjourning the 1964 session last week by levying two taxes which are supposedly needed to balance the budget for the next two years.

And the weeks-old problem of the teacher pay raise was solved. The legislators provided the revenue and Governor Paul Johnson signed the bill, only hours before the deadline.

But not without trouble. The week began on a bumpy road, as the Senate approved the House's half-cent sales tax hike, but they inserted a provision compensating merchants for collecting the tax.

Thus, the bill was sent back to the house, and they refused to accept the amendment. In conference, the bill was finally presented as the House had approved it. The Senate proposal would have given some $4.2 million to merchants, and thus the House felt they would have to pass even another tax to get enough to balance the budget if this amendment stuck.

Legislators again dug into the taxpayer's pockets on Tuesday when the cigarette tax was increased by one penny a pack, which will bring in an additional $3.5 million during the next two years.

With the passage of these two taxes, it was believed that the present income, plus these increases, will furnish the $356 million needed to finance the budget.

Another tax measure was considered last week—for the fourth time—which would place a half-cent increase in the state gasoline tax to finance a proposed $24 million highway improvement program. The measure was defeated and killed completely.

A surprise move was made by the Senate last week when it brought to the floor a previously-defeated bill, legalizing liquor on a local option basis.

The bill passed the Senate, and will be sent to the house, but it is not expected to pass that body. Under the bill, counties would be permitted to vote themselves from under prohibition laws if the state as a whole agrees to legalization, when a state-wide referendum is held.

Opposition to the bill concentrated their attack on the cost of the referendum and the pessimism that the people will vote it down anyway.

The Senate completed action on a House-approved bill locating a planned Research and Development Center in North Jackson.

The upper body also amended and later passed a House bill calling for oil field utilization if requested by 85% per cent of the field's interest.

Both bodies paved the way for packing their bags last week, agreeing to end its biennial work June 5. Since the adjournment would be on June 11.

Several bills will still be pending, but legislators say the other measures can wait until the lawmakers gather again in 1966.

Both chambers began Wednesday the task of appropriating money for operating the state government in the next two years, beginning July 1. The action will continue this week, and barring arguments between the two bodies, the appropriations should be allotted this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Marchino left Friday for San Antonio, Tex., to pick up their daughter, Nancy, who completed her freshman year at Our Lady of the Lake College there. They continued to Chicago, Ill., and other points in that area for a visit, expecting to return last next week.

George W. (Bill) Sattler, who is stationed with the Army in Germany, has been promoted to corporal. He is the son of Col. and Mrs. W. R. Sattler.

60. intersections. On learning that H.G. Dean, Beat 1 supervisor, took the floor and argued that the Napoleon Road, about one mile west of 43, should pass through 1-10, not as an interchange but to permit property owners in that area north of 1-10 better accessibility to Pearlington, whose population he predicted would soon reach 10,000.

Smith suggested that the board of supervisors as a whole go on record requesting this action and R.G. Hubbard, board president, said since Dean, who represents that area, wanted it, he would back it. (The board formally went on record to that effect Monday.)

Highway engineers said this construction would cost from $100,000 to $200,000 and they would not recommend it. After all, they declared, no one lived in the area, its only foreseeable use being for pulpwood hauling and that 43 was less than one mile away. For those reasons they saw no merit in Dean's position.

Early next year, maybe by December, is the contemplated date for contract letting on dual-laning 90, Smith said that in about four years tolls would be removed from the Bay St. Louis bridge and that barrier to construction of 1-10 under state law would be removed.

Completion of 1-10 itself he estimated for 1972, because that is the date set by federal law.

vement under the agreement and was told supplemental contracts would be necessary for any major changes from the list set forth. A firm formula for payment of the installments had not yet been worked out but presumed it would be based on a percentage of cost per mile.

Motion for execution of the contract was by Dean, seconded by Charles Lavinghouse of Beat 3.

A non-discrimination clause on employment is included in the contract.

Roads to be constructed are: In Beat 1, Lower Bay Road, (White Street), extend 1.1 miles; Geness Road 1.2 miles; Seventh Avenue, 1 mile; Sixth Street, 1/2; 11th Avenue, 0.1 mile; Cemetery Road, 0.4 mile; wickler Road (Adams Street), 0.3 mile; Pearl Street, 0.35 mile; Glen Road, 0.75 mile. All are in Pearlington.

In Beat 2, Bienville Church-Catahoula Creek Road, to extend 2.2 miles; Ponderosa Subdivision Road, 1.1 miles; Fleming Road, 0.9 and 1.2 miles.

In Beat 3, Bell Creek Road, 4.7 miles; the existing county road between Standard and Bell Creek Road, 1.9 miles; Ridge Road, 2.8 miles.

In Beat 4, Ridge Road, 3.8 miles.

Teen Times

Now that school has closed an end we will once again be forced to state that if you want this column to continue during the summer months, you'll have to cooperate by either calling the Editor or one of our reporters and keeping us up to date as to your activities. At present we're much interested in everyone's vacation plans, summer jobs, and of course the usual birthdays, parties and current romances. Here is a list of reporters you may contact and they will see to it that we get the news before deadline. Jeanie Rutherford, Jay Legasse, Bobby Sax, Mary Lou Becker, Donna Gariga, Marye Hoagland, Martha Ann Lynch and for those in the Clermont Harbor-Lakeshore area Margie or Jay Lenfant and Debbie and Jessie Cortages.

We also want to thank two new helpers, Nancy McDonald and Kathleen McAuley for aiding us this week.

The last local graduation, Carist Episcopal Day School, took place last Thursday night. The seventh graders entertained at the yacht club in honor of graduates on Friday night, May 22, and a dance complete with band was held at school after diplomas were distributed and Linda Ball and Claude Yarbrough presented American Legion awards.

Hope Sewell, Piji White, Kathy MacDowell and Ellen Colson will serve as counselors.

A weary but healthy looking bunch of 4-H campers returned home around noon Saturday after three days in Ocean Springs where they had a wonderful time. Mary Beth Cardin's bruised knee was the only casualty. . . just a few spotted unloading mountains of luggage included Karl Bielestein, Nancy Swords, Jimmy Caldwell, Ann Ballena, Debbie Scianna, Candice Crider, Debbie Poolson and Jimmy Caldwell.

Linda Hamilton is going all out in her campaign for lieutenant governor of Girls' State in Jackson this weekend. She's even having official election cards printed.

More summer jobs. Bill Jennings who plans to enter Southern in September having graduated from PRJC last month, is working in Hattiesburg during vacation months. Karen Williams begins her job at Horne's next week. . . she'll return to Southern in the fall. Barry Lewis, who worked all winter so he could rest now, will spend a month visiting his uncle in Arkansas. Ann Rutherford loves her three-month job doing secretarial work for Eddie L. Jones. Bobby Sax is assisting his father at Roy Sax Furniture and Appliances. Cheryl Ming is helping out at Harvey's on Saturdays.

J.T. Ladner nails 1st slam of year

Center fielder J.T. Ladner smashed the first grand-slam homer of the season Monday night as Southern Realty defeated Trapani's 7-3. Ladner, with two men out, lined the first two pitches foul and the third was out of the park past the 216 marker for a league record thus far this season.

Donald Caldwell was winning pitcher and Gus Sims the loser. Third sacker Jake Morreale was top gun for Trapani's with 3-3 while Claude Yarborough was 3-3 for Southern Realty.

In the second game of the double header a nine run rally sparked CYO to a 13-5 victory over the Waveland Merchants. A series of errors plagued the Merchants as 13 hitters batted around for another early season record.

Larry Johnson was winning hurler only allowing nine hits to 14 by his opponent, Red Reulicke. CYO's Dusty Rhodes copped batting honors with a single and two doubles.

Mrs. Asher, son hurt in 90 crash

Mrs. Roy Asher and son, Robbie Kirk, 4, whose Volkswagen was struck head-on by a 1961 Falcon driven by Chester Benoit of Rome, Texas, around 8:30 a.m. Friday, at the Mississippi weighing scales are still in Hancock General Hospital under treatment for injuries received in the crash.

Mrs. Asher suffered broken ribs, cracked neck bones and the skin on her forehead was disconnected from her skull by the impact. Robbie had head, arm and leg lacerations and a fractured elbow.

SJA changes pupil outfits

Revision of uniforms for St. Joseph Academy students is now in progress and is to be completed by September, 1965, Sister Eugene, principal, reported this week.

Ninth, 10th and 11th grade students this coming fall must have blazers with the SJA emblem with matching navy blue skirts of a new 65 per cent orlon and 35 per cent wool material which is washable. Seniors will not be required to make the purchase since they have only one year left of school. Those in the seventh and eighth grades tend to continue growth so they may continue wearing sweaters rather than the blazers at this stage.

Outfits are being handled at Delph's and Vickie's. Delph also has material for the skirts. Since the manufacturer can take only one order a year, they must be handled promptly.
